COURSE DESCRIPTION: Why are some post-communist countries more politically and economically successful than others? What underlies the many conflicts in this region? What can happen in the future, and what can we learn from the East European experience? This course is designed to help you answer these and similar questions. Topics include state-socialism and its collapse, the emergence of ethnic politics, the transitions to democracy and market economics, entry into NATO and the European Union, the migrant crisis, democratic backsliding, and the role of Russia.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: Students are expected to attend class regularly, do the assigned reading, complete all exams, and participate in any in-class discussions. The grade for this course will be based on two midterms (30% each), a research paper (20%), and class/section participation (20%). More information about the exams will be provided during the term. I do not grade on a curve, so you are not competing with your classmates for A's. Everyone who does A-level work will receive an A. But you must take both exams to get a passing grade in the course.

Academic misconduct, also known as cheating and/or plagiarism, will not be tolerated. If you are caught cheating I reserve the right to fail you in the course. For information on what constitutes misconduct please see: <http://sa.berkeley.edu/conduct>

MATERIAL FOR PURCHASE: The following are required and available for purchase at the ASUC bookstore.

Sharon L. Wolchik and Jane Leftwich Curry, eds., Central and East European Politics: From Communism to Democracy. 4th Edition. (Roman and Littlefield, 2018).

NOTE: All readings not in the Wolchik and Curry book are available on bCourses.

IMPORTATION NOTE: New and better readings are always coming to my attention. I therefore reserve the right to add and subtract from the syllabus.

Class Rules

1. I realize we live in a wired world, but personal technology is a distraction during lecture. Please keep your laptops, smartphones, and other electronic gadgetry off during lecture. For note-taking you will need to bring paper and a writing implement. If you have a disability that necessitates electronic assistance, please see me to request an exception. A DSP note will be required.
2. I do not post my lecture notes online (and in fact do not have notes to begin with), but I will make my lecture slides available on bCourses.
3. I do not allow students to make announcements to the class regarding any extracurricular activity.
4. I do not hand out study sheets before exams, but we will review and discuss exams in class and in section.
5. Please report any suspected errors in the grading of an assignment within two days of receiving the grade. I reserve the right not to effect a grade change if an issue is reported after more than two days.
6. Syllabi are wonderful documents with lots of information on the time and place of office hours, the dates of exams, and course requirements. Please do not ask for information contained in the syllabus.
7. Unless otherwise specified no appointment is necessary to come to my office hours. Just show up!
